WHO IS GUARDIAN CARE FOR?

Comfort Care may be a good fit if:

- You find yourself worrying about small changes in your pet
- You would like someone knowledgeable checking in regularly
- Your pet is entering their senior years
- Your pet has arthritis, stiffness or changing mobility
- Your pet becomes stressed by unnecessary trips away from home
- Getting your pet into the car or veterinary clinic is becoming difficult
- You want closer observation between veterinary appointments
- You want your veterinarian kept informed about how your pet is doing at home

You don't have to wait for a crisis to start paying closer attention

YOU KNOW YOUR PET

YOU NOTICE THE LITTLE THINGS

COMFORT CARE GUARDIAN

In-home monitoring, support and drug-free osteopathic care for greater comfort and mobility

Working collaborativly with your veterinarian

Less wondering ~ More reassurance

LESS “I WONDER IF…”

MORE “WE'RE KEEPING AN EYE ON IT.”

There are still things we can do to help them.

There will always be things worth calling your veterinarian about.

Guardian Care isn't intended to replace those visits.

Instead, it helps bridge the space between them.

Regular in-home support.

Ongoing observation.

Gentle osteopathic care.

Reports that can be shared with your veterinarian.

And someone who gets to know your pet over time.

For pets who could use a little extra watching over — and the people who would feel better knowing someone is.

WHAT HAPPENS DURING A GUARDIAN VISIT?

Each visit provides structured observation and ongoing monitoring of your pet`s comfort and function in their own home.
Depending on your pets individual needs, this may include:

- Mobility and gait observation
- Watching how they get up, lie down and move around your home
- Posture and weight-bearing changes
- Joint and muscle comfort
- Changes in stiffness or flexibility
- General appearance and demeanour
- Activity and exercise tolerance
- Appetite, drinking and elimination changes you notice
- Sleep and resting patterns
- Changes in everyday activities
- Home-environment and mobility recommendations
- Gentle osteopathic treatment when appropriate
- Ongoing comparison with previous visits
- Concise professional reports sent to your veterinarian

YOUR PET CANT TELL YOU WHAT CHANGED

BUT SOMETIMES THEY SHOW YOU

The trouble is knowing what those little changes mean.
Is the slower walk simply an off day?
Is that hesitation related to stiffness?
Are they having difficulty on the stairs?
Has something genuinely changed since last month?
With regular visits, we're not looking at your pet as a stranger seeing them for the first time.

We`re following their story

We can monitor patterns and changes over time and provide your veterinarian with useful observations from your dog's everyday environment.
That means you have another set of eyes watching alongside you.
